Journeyman License

Mr. Darrell Zepp discussed that both Montgomery and Harford County have a Journeyman license. Montgomery and Harford require the individual on any jobsite or any electrical project to either have a master electrical license or a journeyman license. The master license may have as many workers as needed under his supervision on the jobsite or a journeyman can be on site with five (5) workers under his supervision. If the number of workers exceed five (5) another journeyman must be on site. However, Harford County has no limit to the number of individuals working under the supervision of the journeyman. Mr. Brosenne would like Carroll County to offer a journeyman test.
